Two victories over the strong Cleveland team in one day was how the New York players celebrated Memorial Day. As the Cincinnatis were as successful against the Brooklyns, Ewing's players increased their lead over the Clevelands, who still retain second place, to 131 points. The Philadelphias also added two victories to their credit at the expense of the Louisvilles, and were thereby enabled to pass the Brooklyns The Chicagos were twice defeated at Boston, and the latter team is now within one game of the Clevelands. The St. Louis players arrived too late in Washington to play the morning game, but in time to loss the afternoon contest. The Umpires Emalie and Andrews, particularly the latter, failed to enforce the rules against kicking during the morning game at the Pole Grounds yesterday. Objections were filed to their rulings by Joyce, Gleason, Seymour, Grady, Tebsau, and O'Connor, yet no punishment was inflicted. The kicking was not prolonged, but it was apparent to every one of the 3,000 spectators. The game was easily won by the New Yorks because the Clevelands were helpless in their attempts to hit "Cyclone" Seymour, stringing ourses. "Cy" was very wild at times, giving no less than seven bases on balls, but when hits meant runs he pulled himself together in fine shape. Only four hits were collected from his delivery, and three of those were made by Burkett. Seven Clevelanders struck out.

George Davis reappeared at short field for the home team and, in spite of the fact that his injured right hand was still swathed in bandages, he played strongly. Gleason, too, seemed possessed of new life, probably because he had returned to his regular place. Wilmot's stick work was a big factor in the run making, his drives sending home half of the New Yorks suns. Grady had a busy time behind the bat and did well, barring some throwing that wasn't quite up to the mark. The visitors played without errors, Tebsau's first-base performance being of a gilt-edged nature. Wilson pitched well enough to win an ordinary game, but the fact that his own team couldn't bat seemed to discourage him. O'Connor's stupid base-running, when he was twice caught napping, was a surprise to those who expected to see this lively ning, when he was twice caught napping, was a surprise to those who expected to see this lively player at his best. CLEVELAND

NEW YORK, 9: CLEVELAND, 8-AFTERNOON GAME. A holiday crowd of at least 15,000 went to the Polo Grounds in the afternoon and most of them saw a most sensational finish. With defeat staring them in the face in the ninth inning, the New Yorks pounded out a victory, although an error by Childs was directly responsible for the successful rally. Powell was very effective for eight innings against the New Yorks, but Tebeau took him out in the ninth so that Sockalexis might take a whack at the ball in a Cleveland rally, and by so doing was compelled to put in Young. The latter was not ready for the ordeal and was comparatively easy. Rusie, despite a lame arm, which made it impossible to use speed, was ordered in to pitch and he was lucky to get away with the game. He lobbed the ball over and trusted to his fielders. That was all. Hartman split a finger in practice, but he refused to get out of the game and was a star. Warner's catching and throwing were far superior to Grady's in the merning game. O'Conner had his forehead cut by a broken wire in his mask during the game, but pluckily stuck to his task. A holiday crowd of at least 15,000 went to the mask during the game, but pluckly stude to all task.

An error by Joyce was solely responsible for Wallace the visitors runs in the second inning. Wallace had flied to Gleason, when Blake hit to Davis. The latter's throw came to Joyce on an easy first bound, but the captain let it drop and the captain le first bound, but the captain let it drop and the runner was safe. O'Consor then struck out, but Blake stole second. McAleer shot a single to right and Blake scored. Tebeau put a base hit in centre, and when Van Haltren threw the ball clear to the grand stand in his effort to shut off McAleer at third the latter accred, and the Cleveland captain ran all the way to third. Fowell ended the agony, however, with a fly to Hartman. Wilmot got a life on Childs's juggle in the last half, but was caught stealing. Gleason and Hartman couldn't connect with Powell's change of pace.

Hartman made a star play in the fourth by nailing Wallace's bid for a hit and retiring the runner with a lightning throw. Blake secured four balls and O'Connor hammered a three-bagger to right, Blake counting. McAleer fouled out, but Tebeau's single, which got away from Van Haltren, brought in the second run of the inning and made the score at 0 against New York. Then the ice was broken by the home team, the crowd beginning the unsportsmanlike habit of yelling incessantly to rattle the pitcher. Joyce made a scratch, Davis walked to first on four balls, and Wilmot filled the bags with a left field single. Gleason's out sent the New York captain home and moved up the other runners. Hartman dropped the ball in front of the plate and on Powell's bad fumble Davis came home. Wilmot made the third tally on Warrener's out, and Rusis retired the side with a grounder to Wallace, who snapped it over to Tebeau Ilke an arrow.

Aithough Burkett opened the fifth with a ner's out, and Russe retired the side with a grounder to Wallace, who snapped it over to Tebeau like an arrow.

Although Burkett opened the fifth with a single, he couldn't get around, because the next three men were unable to find Amos's slow ones. The moment the Clevelands took the field the crowd began yelling again, with the hope that the noise would disconcert the visitors. Fowell, however, kept his nerve and three New Yorkers went out quickly.

It was one, two, three order for the Clevelands in the sixth, Hartman making another superb stop and throw off O'Connor. Davis was out in the last half on a rattling stop and throw by Childs. Wilmot smashed a single into right, and, when Wilmot smashed a single into right, and, when O'Connor threw to second and headed him off, Wilmot jumped up and gesticulated wildly because Andrews called him out. Gleason's strikeout ended the inning, the visitors still being one was abased.

Wilmot jumped up and gesticulated wildly because Andrews called him out. Gleason's strikeout ended the inning, the visitors still being one run ahead.

Burkett made his third hit with two out in the seventh, only to be left. Then the crowd began to stretch and roar:

"Lucky seventh! Lucky seventh!"
The people kept it up until Blake collared Hartman's fly, and when Warner and Rusie went out there was a dead silence. It lasted while the Forest City boys were being settled in the first half of the eighth. But when Van Haltren came to bat in the last half the spectators resumed their howling.

Van bunted and beat out Powell's throw to Tebeau. When Andrews called Van safe, Tebeau, Powell and O'Connor went through all sorts of antics to show their displeasure. The crowd was howling like Indians now and persens in the grand stand could not hear what Umpire Emsile's rulings were. Tiernan swatted the ball to deep right centre for what appeared to be a homer. Everybedy shrisked for joy until McAleer pulled the ball down in marvellous style. It was a great catch and received well-merited applause.

Juves added to the excitement by driving a single to ceatre, but rapid work by McAleer made Van stop at second. Now came George Davis with his big bat, and the cranks were alunly frantic. Davis lined the ball to right for a seat single, and van Haltren crossed the plate with the tieing run. Then there was more recting and cheering, for one was out and it looked like a batting rally for keeps. Childs, however, caught a hot liner from Wilmot's bat,
and, by quickly threwing seross to Wallace, he caught Joyce off third, ending the inning.

The visitors surprised the crowd then by acoring four runs in the ninth, O'Connor took four halls and Davis fimbled McAleer's grounder.
Tebeau's safe bunt filled the bases, and when Powell came up the Cleveland Captain called for the Indian Bockalexis to bat in the pitcher's turn. The moment "hock" left the bench the crowed the plate on McKeen's safe shot to left.
Childs followed wi

Warner's single to left made averybody reli. Rusie labbed one to centre and Hartman scored. Van Haltren whipped a safe hit to left and Warner came in. Tiernan'struck out, and when Joyce stalked to the bat the crowd roared and ranted without let-up. Scrappy sent an easy roller to Childs, who fumbled the ball, and the corners were covered. That error was fatal, as it lost a chance to retire the side.

A wild pitch by Young sent Husie hame, and the spectators in the grand stand beceme so frenzied that at least a hundred seat cushions were thrown out upon the grass. Police Capt. Kirschner hurried onto the field and ordered the people to desist. Then George Davis came to bat, and with a scething baser to left sent in both Van and Scrappy with victory. The New York players embraced one another and were in turn hugged by the more excitable rooters, who rushed onto the field and cheered the victors all the way to the clubbouse. Altogether it was a pretty hot baseball day in Harlem. The score:

Instead of losing to the Cineinnatis yesterday morning, the Brooklyns would have shut out the visitors had they given better support to Kennedy. The six runs scored by Ewing's men were due to the errors made by Hallman, Dunn, and Shindle. The first named made several glaring misplays, and he alone was responsible for at least four of the runs. The home players had no trouble locating Hawley, who won his ninth straight game. Team work was lacking in several innings, when Barnie's men had opportunities to score runs. Hallman shook his flat at Umpire Cushman when the latter called him out at the plate. The score:

Mere than 7,000 persons witnessed the conflict, which was interesting from start to finish. The Gincinnatis began the game as if they intended to send Joe Yeagar back to the dressing room. Miller opened with a safe line drive to left, and completed the circuit a moment later when Beckley caught a fast inshoot on the end of his bat, sending the sphere past Sheckard for three bases. Smith followed with another drive to left, reaching second and scoring Jake. When Holliday hit to Yeager, the latter threw to Shindle, but he was safe, and the latter came in with what proved to be the winning run while Lachance was attending to McPhee's bounder. TOOK ADVANTAGE OF THE HOLIDAY Its Tracks Down in Summit Avanue.

The North Hudson County Railway Company has been trying for a year to lay tracks in Sumnit avenue, Jersey City, from Manhatta avenue to Congress street. At 6 o'clock yesterday morning several trucks, loaded with ties, rails and all the necessary equipments for a double track road, drove through Summit avenue and dumped their loads at intervals. Next a swarm of Italian laborers, armed with pickaxes and shovels, arrived and began tearing up the pavement. Word was sent to the ¡Webster avenue police station and Roundsman Richards hurried to the scene. He was joined shortly afterward by Sergeant Holderer.

abortly afterward by Sergeant Holderer.

The foreman in charge was ordered to shew his permit for tearing up the street. The foreman said that Warren Hall, the company's supervisor, had it. Mr. Hall was sent for. He said that the work could proceed, as the injunction obtained by those opposed to the road on May 6, 1807, was vacated last Friday. The officers insisted on seeing the papers. Mr. Hall refused to order the work stopped, and Roundsman Richards placed him under arrest. After that a crowd of people gathered in the street and made threats against the Italians. The work was stopped temporarily until Mr. Hall and George Holmes, the company's counsel, succeeded in convincing the police that the injunction had been dismissed. Some of the objectors declared that they would apply for a new injunction the first thing in the morning.

While the Italians were throwing the paving blocks and dirt in front of former Finance Commissioner Henry Brautigam's house his wife became indignant at the destruction of the well-kept lawn and flower garden. She ordered the men to desist, but they paid no attention to her. She sent for her husband, and when he arrived he began throwing the blocks back. Finally a gang of men was sent to relieve Mr. Brautigam of his work. The number of laborers was nearly doubled last night, in order to have the tracks laid before any papers can be served this morning. The foreman in charge was ordered to shaw

MISSOURI VALLEY, Ia., May 30,-The Black Hills express on the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley Railroad, leaving here at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, was derailed be-tween Blair and Kennard, by running into the rear end of a freight train. The way car on the freight had been wrecked, and the conductor was so cripples that he could not signal. En-gineer Lucian Cook was instantly killed. The fireman and two mail clerks were severely in-jured.

Whiried Four Times Around a Flywheel. BLOOMFIELD, N. J., May 30 .- At Montclair, N. J., John Sigler, an engineer employed in the power house of the Osborne & Marcellis stone crusher, had a narrow escape from instant death to-day. Sigler was oiling the machinery when to-day. Sigler was olling the machinery when his jumper caught in a 12-inch belt and he was taken around the big flywheel of the engine four times before it could be stopped. Two Italians working in the power house saved the engineer from death. While one ran to stop the engine the other sprang to the outside of the flywheel and caught Sigler as he came down, thus breaking his fall. Sigler was released, and it was found that his right leg was badly crushed. He was taken to the Mountainside Hospital.

Oli Tanks Burned and Three Men Injured. An explosion yesterday in the yards of the standard Oil Company in West avenue, Long Island City, set fire to several tanks and severely burned Superintendent Theodore Hildebrandt, Henry Gross and Louis Schiele. Schelle was sent to his home and the others were taken to St. John's Hospital. The flames were extin-guished by the Fire Department. Damage, about $500. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

YACHTING.

Pontine Wine the Challenge Trophy in the Marten Club Regatta.

brought out nearly 2,000 spectators, who viewed the race from the decks of the steamer Glen Island. There was excellent sport in the various classes. The Pontine won the Williams Chalenge Trophy, which she has captured three years in succession. The race began in a light outherly wind, but veered around in the after noon to all points of the compass, and blew s scupper brocke from the west when the yachte crossed the finish line. The course for the arger sloops and catboats was around Matinicock Point buoy and a red spar buoy off Parson age Point, Larchmont. The start and finish line was between two anchored stakeboats off Belden Point, City Island, the distance being twenty nautical miles. The 25-foot classes had Matinicock Point and the black spar off, Delancey Point as outer marks, distance eighteen nautical miles. The small boats sailed over a small triangle of thirteen nautical miles, the outer points being Old Hen buoy and Delancey Point, Summary:

The signal for the formal opening of the Sec Gate home of the Atlantic Yacht Club was given at 1 o'clock yesterday from Commodore Adams's flagship Sachem. The club flag was hoisted and saluted by all the yachts that swung at anchor inside the breakwater. A reception was held in the Sachem in the afternoon, and a dance in the clubhouse ended the day's festivities. The flag of the American Yacht Club was sent aloft for the summer season yesterday after-noon on the lawn in front of the clubhouse and

aloft for the summer season yesterday afternoon on the lawn in front of the clubhouse and was saluted in fitting style as it saapped out from the halyards in the fresh afternoon breeze.
The club was declared in commission at 4 o'clock, and the members and their guests assembled afterward in the dining hall and enjoyed an elaborate dinner.

The opening of the yachting season of the Jamaica Bay Club was also one of the important events that were scheduled for yesterday, and under blue skies was the most successful of the day, both in point of numbers and elaborate entertainment. The yachts of the club fleet assembled off the clubhouse early in the morning and a meeting of the Captains was held on board the flagship at 12:30 o'clock. To the music of booming cannon the American flag and the club burges were mastheaded shortly afterward and all the pleasure vessels dressed ship. At 2:30 o'clock Commodore Butcher signalled the fleet Captains to get under weigh for a cruise and parade. The sloops and catboats over twenty feet in length sailed in squadron formation to and around the red-can buoy at the mouth of the inlet, after which they joined the smaller vachts at Block House Point, and then the entire fleet passed in review between the anchored flagship and the clubhouse, saluting the flag as they salled across the imaglinary line.

Other openings were those of the Brooklyn inary line.

Seawanhaka-Cerinthian Vacate Bace. OYSTER BAY, N. Y., May 30.-The races of the Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht Club this afterneon for the Robert Center memorial prizes were very interesting and very closely contested. There were eleven starters. The course was eleven miles and consisted of a short triangle, which was sailed three times around, and then a long reach and back to the starting line. A light breeze from the west-nerthwest prevailed, and the little knockabouts sped along very rapidly and the race was not won by any one until the finish line was crossed. Nelson Burr's Bee was the first to cross, and she was followed very closely by Lloyd Scott's Tosto, but the latter stood in a little too far and was forced to make a short tack, thus dropping into third place, while Sherman Hoyt's Stella dropped into second place. The New Jersey A. C.'s carnival of outdoor sports was held yesterday afternoon at Bergen Point, and the success achieved was greater than the management anticipated. The presence offully 5,000 patrons indicated an amount of gate receipts which will enable the club to liquidate most of its financial obligations. There were seventeen events on the programme, the sport beginning at noon with a football game followed by a lacrosse match. Two records were shattered during the afternoon, the stellar performance in this respect be ing that of the intercollegiate champion, J. C. McCracken of Pennsylvania, who defeated the world's champion, John Flansgan of the New York A. C., in throwing the sixteenpound hammer, and surpassed by an inch Fianagan's world's record of 153 feet 7 inches, recently made at New Orleans, McCracken's achievement was accomplished early in the games, and was greated with en thusiastic cheers. The other record-breaking feat was merely that of eclipsing the one-mile bleycle figures for the Oval's quarter-mile sinder track. It was the work of Louis Hunter. one of the erganization's crack wheelmen, who lowered by 72-5 seconds the long-standing figures made by the former world's champion bicycle rider, Arthur A. Zimmerman,

J. W. B. Tewksbury of Pennsylvania, the in tercollegiate champion sprinter, was too heav-ily handloapped in the 100-yard run to win a place, but he retrieved his laurels by cleverly wisning the special 300-yard run in the fast time of 31 seconds. M. W. Long of the Nev York A. C. ran second to Tewksbury in the special race and won the quarter-mile run from scratch. Champion George W. Orton ran a well-judged race in the mile, which he easily won. Summary:

SLY FOX AGAIN A WINNER

HE TAKES THE BROADWAY STAKES AT GRAFESEND IN GRAND STYLE.

gree, Captures the Clover Stakes-Rhoders mend Brenks Bown Under Sims, but "Jockey

Bill" Rides Two Winners-Slean Loads. Two stake events and five other interesting races furnished most enjoyable sport at the Gravesend track yesterday. Atmospheric and track conditions favored the outing, and an enthuslastic holiday crowd of from 10,000 to 13, Jockey Club's inclosure. It was a typical democratic gathering which cared little for the fine distinctions of racing conditions and was just as content to plunge on a selling race of Guttenburg calibre as on an event introducing some of the best horses of the season.

The first fixed event on the card was the Clover Stakes of $2,000 for two-year-old fillies, Of the ten contenders John Daly's clever filly High Degree, by the same sire that produced Jean Bereaud, was the favorite on form, and her price was promptly cut to 1 to 2, owing to the strong investments of Sloan's followers as punch as to the recognized merit of the filly. Lady Meddlesome, a handsome daughter of imported Meddler, was heavily played to show, but the second choice was Bromley & Co.'s Onondaga's Pride, with Taral in the saddle, Sloan got off well with the favorite, while Hirsch on W. C. Daly's Lepida was practically left through his own fault. High Degree made all the running and won easily by two lengths. There was a tremendous drive through the stretch for place honors, and Sims outrode his rivals. He brought Lady Meddlesome from sixth to second place in the last sixteenth, and just nosed out Loiter, who beat Saccharine a short bead.

The Broadway Stakes dwindled down to a four-horse race, Bowling Brook, Previous, Sanders, Central Trust, and Sensational being withdrawn. Sly Fox, C. F. Dwyer's game and consistent bread winner, was heavily played to beat the field, and his price was soon cut to 6 to 5. Mont d'Or was next in demand, and caught all the money of the Sloan followers, while Mirthiu was well supported at 14 to 5. "Pa" Bradley's Western record breaker, Traverser, was ignored, and those who passed him by apong a very uncomfortable minute or so. Taraltook the Bradley coltout at the start and showed the way to his field until straightened for home. Then Sly Fox, who had been racing in second place, moved up and smothered the others, winning by two lengths, with Slms sitting still. Mirthful moved up from third position in the drive home and captured second place from Mont d'Or by three lengths. Traverser died away to nothing and struggled in fifteen lengths behind.

The opening dash for malden two-year-olds brought out a field of eight runners. The talent's money was split on Dr. Parker and Frobsinn, while Amorita was played to beat the salled out to run his opponents into the ground. He led to the free field, when Sims came through from the back of the bunch with Frobsinn and wen by a length and a half from Extrems, who got up in time to beat Dr. Parker by a head. Amorita was an equally close fourth.

Alvarado II., with Sloan up, was plunged on to win the second event, a handicap for three-year-olds and upward. He was never better than third, while Ben Eder had the speed of his field all the way and won by a length and a half from Howard Mann.

The fifth race, a five-furlong selling dash for three-year-olds and upward. He was never better than third, while Ben Eder had the speed of his field all the way and won by a length and a half from Howard Mann.

The fifth race, a five-furlong selling dash for three-year-olds and upward, was a chapter of aocidents. Ten Spot tumbled soon after the stars and threw Jackson. Sims rode the 8 to 5 favor The Broadway Stakes dwindled down to a our-horse race, Bowling Brook, Previous, San-as usual on the mark, but she made up a lot of ground and beat Bastion two lengths for the place.

Irish Reel was played off the boards to beat her five opponents in the sixth race, and she brought off the coup in a romp Dr. Sharp, the second choice, held a mortgage on the place throughout and finished four lengths in front of Hanwell.

The extra race for the hurdle jumpers figured to be a certainty for Sydney Paget's Sir Vassar, and his followers were happy to accept any price. Capt. Pearsall was played as next best, and he looked to have the favorite in trouble until the turn for home, where Hogan brought Sir Vassar up and won comfortably by five lengths. A similar distance separated Capt. Pearsall and Valorous. When the winner was offered at auction, A. G. Blakely, owner of the second, bid him up from his entered price of $500 to $2.000. Mr. Paget went $5 higher and retained him. The summary:
